

On the COVER: INDIGGO TWINS

INDIGGO is the stage name of the multi-talented identical twin sisters, Mihaela and Gabriela Modorcea. Together they are professional singers, actors, writers, composers, dancers, fashion designers and... true vampires.

The sisters belong to a family from Transylvania, Brasov. They have an older brother, Vlad, who is a game producer and whose name was given after Vlad the Impaler/Dracula. (The twins consider themselves the offspring of Dracula.) Their father is a very prolific writer and TV producer; he has a Ph.D. in Arts and their mother, who has a Ph.D. in philology, is a teacher of world literature.

Mihaela and Gabriela live in New York City where they have been developing a unique vampire project. The twins have been writing and producing their soon-to-be-released album in America together with top American producers Peter Zizzo (Celine Dion, Avril Lavigne), Rockwilder (Christina Aguilera) and the famous DJ Paul Oakenfold (Madonna). Their music reveals a "symphonic trance," vampire world infused with traditional elements from the twins' native country.

The twins have guest starred on the NBC drama series "Law & Order SVU," in the features "No Love in the City" and "Van Wilder 2/The Rise of Taj." They were semi-finalists on America's Got Talent and guest starred on The Tyra Banks show," TMZ," "The Happy Hour"/ FOX Business and "Hair Battle Spectacular"/ Oxygen. They also performed in advertisements for Dell computers, NY Knicks promos, Vodka Gorbatschow, in music videos alongside actors Danny Aiello, Lindsay Lohan, music icons 50 Cent and Kanye West, to name a few. And, they have been featured in three musicals playing leading roles in "The Two Orphans," "The Future is in Eggs," by Eugene Ionesco; and "America Alive."

Mihaela and Gabriela were introduced to music at the very early age of six, taking piano, canto and dancing lessons. They speak English, French, German and Romanian and can sing in seven different languages.

Mihaela, the older twin sister, will soon release her first novel in the U.S., a fantastic story of their lives as vampires... In 2006, she released her first poetry book entitled "Rage and Love" and was acclaimed as one of the most original poets in her native country.

Together their music was released internationally under Sony BMG where they reached the top of the charts and have been produced by successful European music producer Dieter Bohlen. Mihaela and Gabriela constantly perform on the most popular German and European TV shows and received major media support by "BILD," the best selling newspaper in Europe.

The Indiggo's first album (2000) was produced by Media Pro Music-Romania and their first Europe-wide single "Hip Hop Jam" - a catchy Latino song with Cuban influences - topped the charts in several countries including Germany, Switzerland, Austria. Their songs have been featured on numerous compilations throughout 20 countries.

For more information about the INDIGGO TWINS, visit www.myspace.com/twinsindiggo

PHOTO BY DAVID GARVEY,
Stylist: Jeffrey Couture